Dear Sir or Madam,

My name is Vishwas Mittal and I am a sophomore at IIT Roorkee. I saw your company online and really like the work you do and would like to be a part of it so I write to be considered for an internship position in your company.

Currently, I am in my sophomore year at IIT Roorkee studying Computer Science and Engineering. Some of my past experiences include developing backend support for apps like Appetizer (<https://mess.iitr.ac.in/>) which is used by all campus residents to help in reducing the food wastage. Some other notable projects include a bot for slack and an home automation project using IoT. I am fluent in Python and also have a good grasp on Java along with some other languages. I have also worked on Android app development for quite some time. I am also a great learner, that means that I can learn and apply things very easily on the go.

I am looking for an opportunity to work with experienced developers in the field of backend development in a nice and supportive environment that can help me improve my existing skills and build new ones all while also learning how a full fledged company, like yours, works in a competitive market.

I look forward to hearing from you about available opportunities. I can be reached by phone or email.

Yours faithfully,

Vishwas Mittal
